

Nearly all the stock was in our market, at a steady price. The market for hogs was purchased at prices varying from 75c. a 175c.; and was sold at 100c. and sound yellow Southern, which was scarce, was held at 80c.

The stock of sugar in this market, on the 1st inst., was, 56,048 hogheads, against 50,959 hogheads on the 1st August, 1852. The other stocks, on the 1st inst. were—boxes, 17,569; bags Manila, 18,961; do, Brazil, 6,158. Last year, at the same time, there were 20,000 boxes, 13,077 bags Manila, and 9,650 do, Brazil. The nearly arrived in the New South American No.

gation and Mining Company, stated that the prospects of getting it fully under way were quite favorable. The explorations made by the McDougals in Bolivia, parts of Peru and other States were said to have disclosed wonderful agricultural and mineral resources. One of the brothers continued in that country, while the other two were on a visit to the United States. We have been supplied with some observations regarding the mineral resources of Peru and Bolivia, together with the present condition and prospects of existing mines, from a very respectable and well informed person who had travelled through the country. He stated that the yield of the Potosi mines in Peru, from their discovery to 1803, and without the use of suitable machinery, was over one billion of dollars in silver. The Andes, in the vicinity of Potosi, lat. 19° 35', south, separated into two great longitudinal ridges—one running through Peru, parallel with the Pacific, and denominated the Cordillera of the coast; the other or western prolongation, called the Cordillera Real. The great valley formed between them was 13,632 feet above the level of the sea. This mining valley, the richest in Peru, he represented from actual data, to be one of the most healthy places in the world. He considered, however rich the mines of Peru had hitherto been supposed, and however much yet imperfectly worked they had been, that untold wealth yet lay concealed in those vast mineral regions, now made more accessible by steam navigation, and capable of being more extensively developed on account of more powerful and perfect mining machinery. Between the great valley referred to and the sea-coast, every variety of soil and production known to tropical or temperate climates abounded, with many things peculiar to that part of South America. We hope soon to give his article to the public, in the columns of the Hesperian.

Arrived at New York on Tuesday to receive later foreign mail, either by the Washington, or by the Niagara-Hallfax, which it was thought might prove commercially and politically important.

City Intelligence.
THE WEATHER—The dog days, as they verge toward their termination, appear to increase in virulence. Yesterday was a very warm day, and so was the day following. The heat was the height of the thermometer during the forenoon—9 A. M. 78°; 3 P. M. 85°; 8 P. M. 73°; the wind in the morning and afternoon was west, and the last named hour north-west. The quantity of rain that fell on Monday, which was very wet during the night, was nearly half an inch. The whole quantity of rain that fell during the past month was 4 1/2 inches; a very large amount of water to be spread over the surface of the earth, and which was so sufficient to save the crops from the effects of the drought, and the animals in the sphere, which takes up so large a quantity of moisture at this season of the year.

AGGRAVATED ASSAULT—A case of aggravated assault took place Monday morning in Greenwood street, in which one man, named Monte Shepherd, was conspicuous. Injured persons were taken to the hospital, and already a riot is so great an extent. The cause of the assault was not clearly ascertain, but it appears that there is a sort of agency office, for employment, at 64 Greenwood street, and that a number of laboring men, some fifty or more, were congregated inside the office as well as outside, who had been engaged as laborers for a rail was eager to see the word "Finnish" in the man it seems to have been applied to. He was devoted to the works by the great Scandinavian writers, and he was particularly fond of the great novelists, to which objection was made by the agent, who was not willing to send them to the man. He had engaged a larger number. However it was, the matter caused dissatisfaction, and some hard words were said, in the course of which a man named John W. Wrenrich, by trade a tailor, residing in the house with his wife, struck the two men above mentioned with a heavy stick, and, one of them, Samuel Shepherd, being cut about the head in an, one of the men, who, as a result, there was a quarrel, and the man, who was a member, was taken away by the police of the First Ward. Wrenrich, who was having committed the assault, was arrested, and was

FIRE—Early yesterday morning between Sand & 4th streets,

Plans were discovered leading from the main No. 383 Eighth avenue, known as the Tea Bank, which is kept by John M. Fluty. The store, with its contents, was totally destroyed, slating which were a large number of boxes of slating and slating cut. It was located in the Green which office. On the 11th of the Ninth, eleven men of the Sixteenth, and Harney of the Eighteenth, were on the ground to preserve order and protect property, with a section of officers from the Eighteenth ward.

AN IMPUDENT THREE.—It appears that some handsome fellow has had the effrontery to attempt visiting the office of the District Attorney. He was caught before he could enter part of the new law building, where he had been making researches, with he was very unceremoniously overhauled by a policeman on duty. The supposed bar plan took this liberty in high dudgeon, and gave the police officer several severe whacks on the head with what is sometimes called a "life preserver." A struggle took place and in the end the officer succeeded in effecting his escape, having, however, sustained the officer with a heavy blow, which rendered him insensible for a long time.

ACCIDENT ON BOARD A SHIP—Yesterday John McDermott, a laborer, was injured badly about the lower part of the leg, the shin bone being broken from a blow sustained by a bar of railroad iron, by which he was struck, while

It appears that he was employed below in the hold of the ship Clonbia, which had arrived from Liverpool, and was lying at the foot of Beekman street at pier No. 1, and was helping to discharge the cargo, consisting of railroad ties. One of the ties had been placed in the stow ready to be raised, and the men, who were employed for the purpose, were suddenly dived upon, and the same of iron tieg whirled round by the sudden jerk, struck McBurnett on the leg, rendering his conveyance to the Hospital immediately necessary.

had crushed into one mass, yesterday morning, by a card press, having foolishly inserted his finger inside the bed, where it was caught by a spring belonging to the machine. It appears that the lad was working the press for another boy for Mr. Martin, in John street, and that he was not aware of the danger that he incurred by placing his finger in or answered a position.

FIX OVER.—On Monday, a boy named Martin Hines was run over at the corner of Anthony and Centre streets, by a hack which was coming full speed. Several persons who attempted to stop the horses were struck and injured with his whip. At last a Mr. Fitzgerald, residing at 67 Roosevelt street, succeeded in getting the hack away from him, and brought it to the station house, where it is not likely the driver will go to demand it. The boy was taken into the drug store 603 1/2 Centre street, where he was attended to, and subsequently taken to his home, 405 Ross street, by police officer McGowan, of the Sixth ward.

SUPPOSED TO BE DRUNKEN—About five o'clock yesterday morning, officer Mound, of the Eighth police district, (detailed as Duck Master) found a young man, a foreigner, at the foot of Spring street, behind one of the bars, a full suit of men's clothes, with the exception of shirt and pants. ATTEMPT AT SUICIDE.—On Monday a woman named Lavina McEllen, residing at the corner of E. Eleventh street and Ninth avenue, attempted to commit suicide by cutting her throat with a razor. She refused to give any reason for the rash act, or to communicate any particulars connected with it. The police were called.

AUGUST 2.—On the application of the District Attorney at Supreme Court Chambers, Judge Edmonds granted a special term of the Court of Oyer and Terminer to be held on the third Monday in September, for the trial of the De Corn murder, and other criminal cases, which render it necessary for a general jail delivery.
